FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Elusive Links, A Story of Connection, Compassion and Competition Meet the Author

Mendham, NJ –

On Wednesday, June 28th at 7pm the Mendham Township Library and Brookside Community Church, UCC will host New Jersey author Dan A. Rosenberg as he discusses his highly acclaimed book, Elusive Links, A Story of Connection, Compassion and Competition.

Meet author Dan A. Rosenberg as he explores his popular book, Elusive Links, A Story of Connection, Compassion and Competition. This book is a compelling story that combines history, religion and golf. Dan will discuss what compelled him to create a saga in medieval Europe and why he connected it to a multi-faceted story in the modern world. Learn how Dan used the sport of golf and the teachings of Maimonides, in eras separated by five-hundred years, as the structural foundation for the novel. Dan will describe his meticulous research and how he blended events and people, real and imagined, to create a page turner, as well as, the amusing happenings that came along the way during the process.

Dan's interest in writing took root shortly after earning a master's degree from Georgia State University in 1979. He joined Price Waterhouse as a management consultant, where he wrote several business articles, published in trade journals. In 1994, he self-published a short, autobiographical book, Random Destiny "A Collection of True Episodes." As stated in the preface, "I seem to be at the intersection of events that might confound statisticians. These happenings cause me to wonder about the essence of being." Since 2009, he has written over sixty-five pieces for The Connections Magazines. Dan's column, "Random Connections," is published in central New Jersey, where he resides with his wife, Abby.

"First-time novelist Dan Rosenberg has created a fascinating story about spiritual discovery, charity, love and, yes, golf! While his characters are fictitious, Rosenberg places them in historical context that draws the reader into an engaging romp through the ages. Highly recommended!" - Bert Rudman, broadcast news talent agent and former network television news producer at ABC News, CBS News and ESPN.

Books will be available and for purchase.

This presentation will be held in the Anderson Wing, Brookside Community Church, behind 6 East Main Street.
